Foreword

We have the gift of life. Its wrappings do not matter as to appearance, but are tools for us to use "life to its fullest." We must take each moment and earn its beauty and fulfillment. We falter on the path, skip steps, and often fall flat. But we always have the power within us to get up, fulfill our dreams, and make life so full it overflows and encompasses the world.

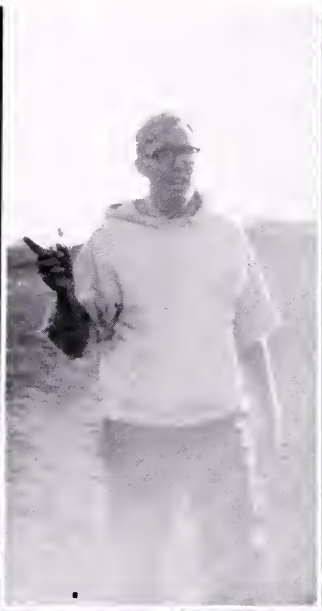
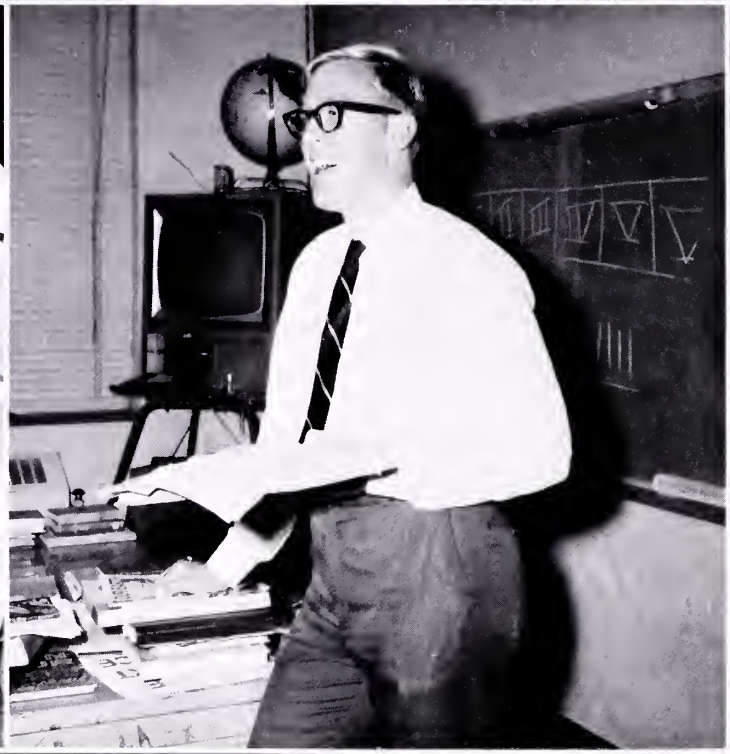
Dedication 9s





to One Who Is Dedicated

"It is not always apparent" is a traditional opening for a dedication. But it is apparent, and it is very conspicuous that some people are dedicated to "life to its fullest." It is to one such man that we wish to focus our attention. He is a man who has no time to give, yet invents some. His sincere concern for each individual reveals a heart that seems to encompass the world's troubles and to crowd out his own. He is able, through some special love for fellow man, to derive his pleasure from that of others. It is because of this belief in youth, in all people, and in life that we feel honored to share a small portion of his enthusiasm. So, it is with admiration and respect that the class of 1967 dedicates the eighteenth volume of the THE TALON to

JAMES K. HARTUNG

Whether it be in our studies or in our social activities, such as the screen, we try to capture each moment and use it to the greatest extent, as we hurriedly live each busy day.

Homecoming Court Honored

Members of the faculty also enjoy a "get-together" during lunch.

Billy Whiting and Susan Smalley admire art exhibits.

David [illegible]pe, Allison Kave, and James Henderson look through college ca[illegible]ues to find information on entrance requirements.

Diana Cameron gets into politics full force with a practical usage problem in government.

by Parade and Halftime Activities

Terry Malbon and Scott Rutherford, members of the cross-country team, find a better way to get cross country after the big meet at William and Mary College.

The members of the Homecoming Court and their escorts are Steve Wisecarver, Cindy Wood, Helge Andersen, Alice Shugars, Charlie Brown, Queen Jill Regan, Mike Verloop, Gladys Grace, Brad Boehr and Jackie Livengood. The crown bearer is Judy Ca

After School, Students Find

Cheerleaders do a good job in leading the crowd in cheers.

Cheerleaders practice their cheers for a big game.

Mr. Click talks to the F.F.A. on the proper use of firearms.

Students exercise their privileges by going downtown after school.

The Class of '67 really knocked themselves out "Till" they transformed the gym into a great Prom scene.

Many Activities to Participate in Students purchase tickets to a basketball game from Mrs. Willingham, school secretary.

Susan Smalley orders a fellow senior to "get to work" at the spaghetti dinner.

After a "win" in basketball everyone appears happy.

Beckey Jo Racer becomes a new member of the Beta Club at a special tapping ceremony.

On a snowy evening there is nothing better than loads of homework!

The seniors are enjoying (?) s[illegible]tti after serving at the senior spaghetti dinner.

School Spirit Is Increased

Two members of THE TALON staff, Carol Carr and Susan Smalley, work diligently to meet a yearbook deadline.

"Happiness is School Spirit" was the motto of this year's varsity cheerleaders, to help improve school enthusiasm.

Students "round-up" books before going home so they can carry out the bulletin board's inspiration.

"Eagle boys" line up after the game, too, for a good time at the canteen.

Physics students study how to become mad scientists.

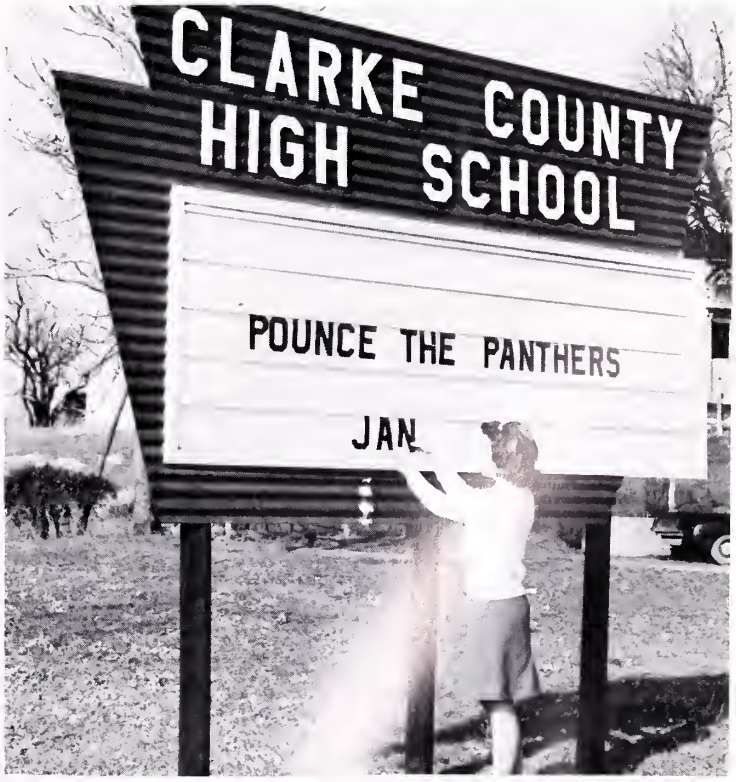
by Pep Rallies

Donnie Breeden assists in the southeast school assembly, the "Wonders of Space."

Gladys Grace, A.F.S. student, Jane Gardner, and other students are eager to start the first pep rally.

Mr. Miley urges students at a pep rally to vocally support the cheerleaders.

Joan Chapman measures Faye Maloney for her cap and gown.



Tucker Childs keeps ever informed about the current activities of the school through school bulletin board.

Teachers and Students Welcome

Mrs. Ellis talks with Mrs. Coumes at Parents' Night.

Rachel Copenhaver and Nancy Digges get their coats and books before leaving school.

Mr. Edwards greets Mrs. James Wood on Parents' Night.

Students are not reluctant about getting on the homeward-bound buses after a long day.

The girls work industriously to improve their typing skills.

Seniors work hard at cleaning up after the spaghetti dinner in order to get home for a well-deserved rest.

Visitors to Our School

The after-school chorus rehearses a selection to present in an S. C. A. assembly.

Jackie Livengood and Susan Smalley give Jill Regan her printcraft cards that she ordered.

Mr. McAvoy discusses his physical science Program with Mr. Kiser, of the State Department of Education.

Mr. Miley talks to Mr. Pettus, of the State Department of Education, and Mr. Overbey, Director of Instruction.

Fans, including Susan Smalley, Rosalie Emerick, and Jackie Livengood, are all in favor of "defeathering" any "bird" that isn't an "eagle."

Buckeye Potts, Emily Verloop, and Buck Zombro assist in one of the many experiments presented in the General Motors Assembly.

Mrs. Donald Neimann, who directed enior play, "I Remember Mama," listens to try-outs for the play.

The faculty meets to share newly acquired knowledge in order to impart to us, the students, as much of this learning as possible.

Non-Academic Personnel Play an Important Part

SCHOOL SECRETARY

Mrs. Vera Willingham, school secretary, sorts the vast amount of mail that comes to the school each morning.

MAINTENANCE

One of Mr. Marshall Willingham and Mr. Robert Stewart's many jobs is to polish the corridor floors daily.

BUS DRIVERS

M[illegible]hel Fishel, Mr. Charles Fishel, Mrs. Ellen Van Keuren, [illegible] Mr. Marshall Chapman are four of our bus drivers who e[illegible] morning transport students to and from school.

CAFETERIA WORKERS

Mrs. Thelma Carpenter, Mrs. Nellie Dillow, Mrs. Janet McDonald, Mrs. Arvella Newlin, and Mrs. Bea White plan the meal for the day.

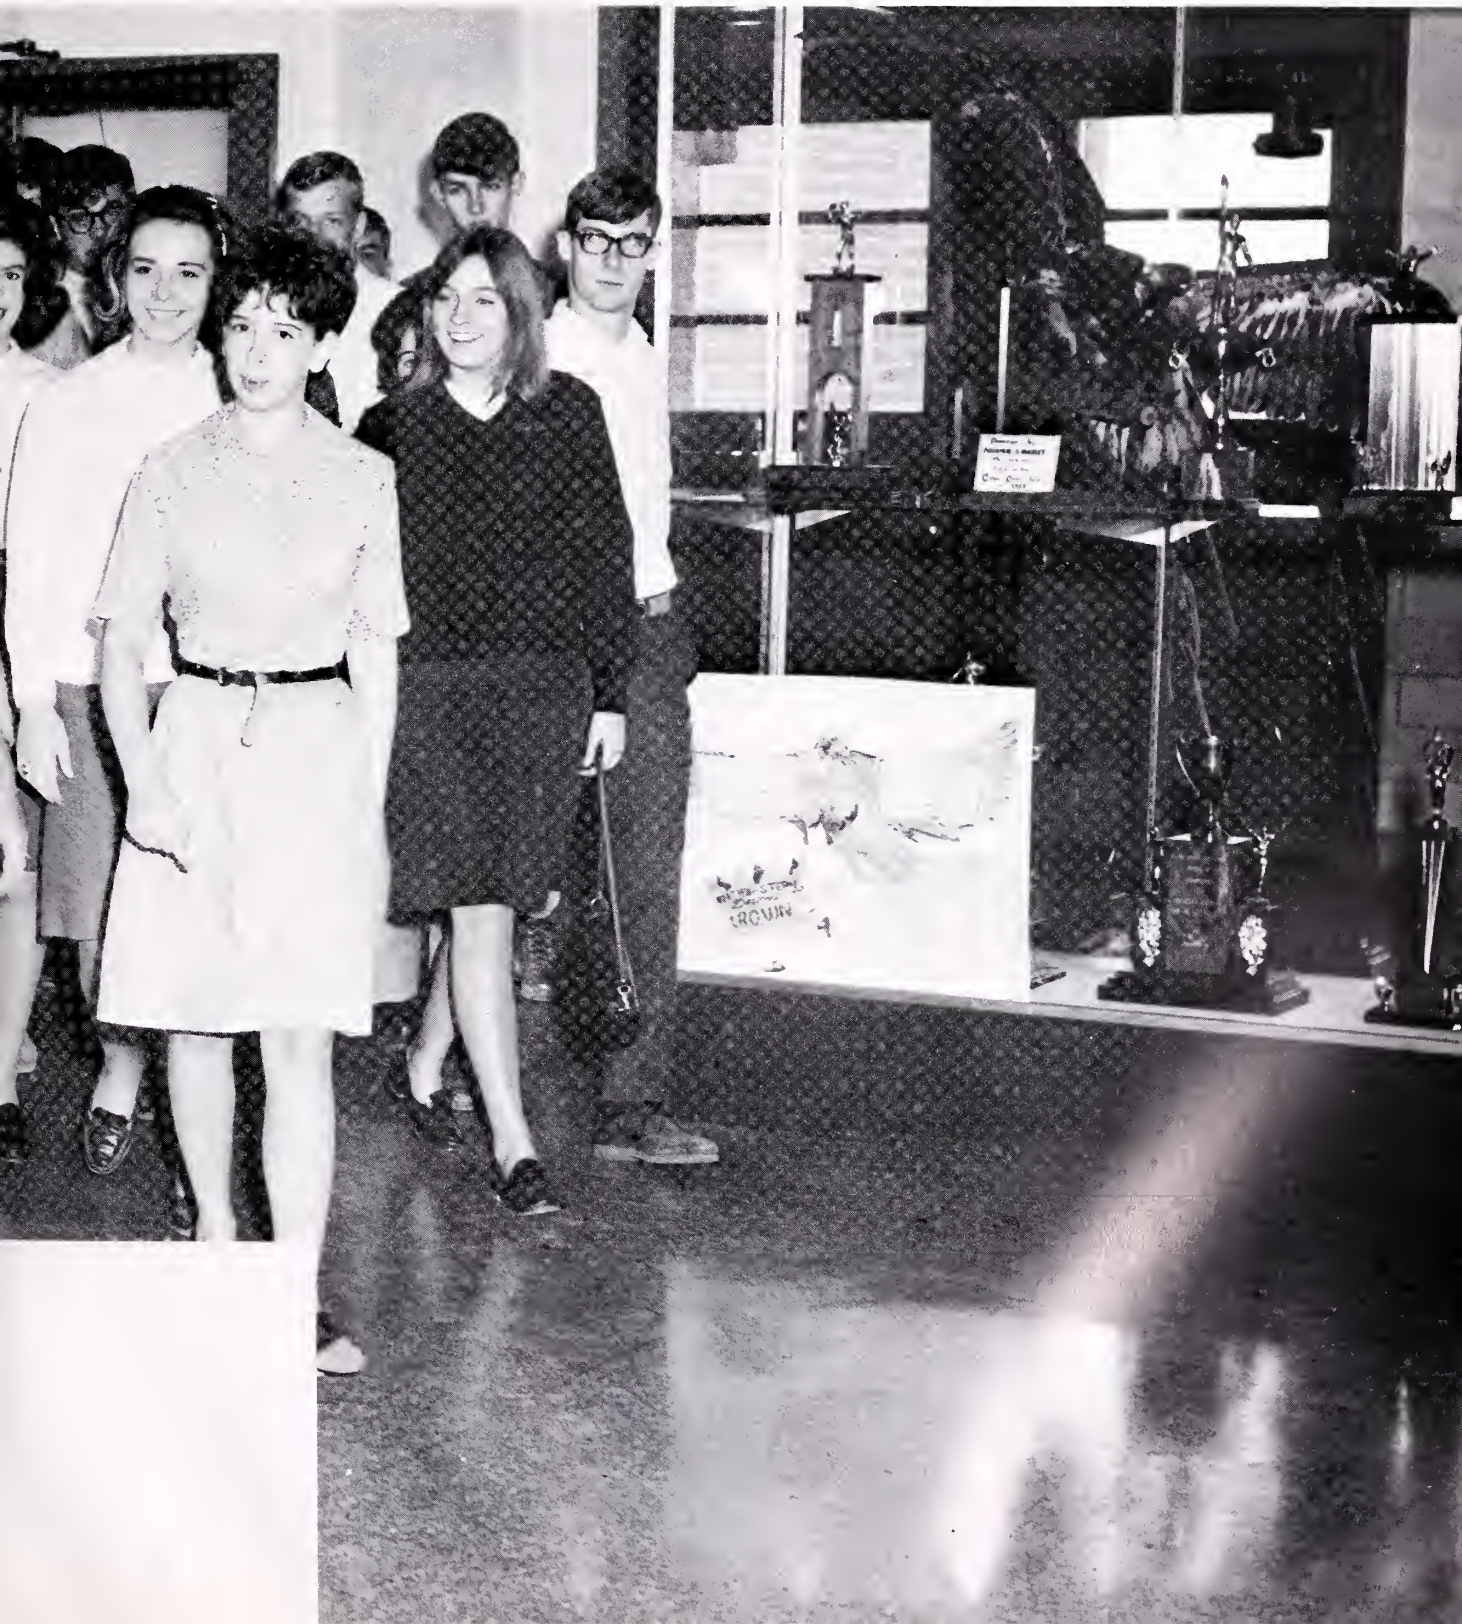
STUDENT OFFICE HELPERS

SEATED--Rebecca Travers. STANDING--Carolyn Cain, Frances Waters, Judy White, LaVonne Hummer, Carla Carlisle, and Helen Anger.

FLAG BOYS

The flag boys, Ronnie Sours and Allen [illegible]e, raise and lower the flags each day.

We are at the crossroad, and we look both ways--to recall seemingly crowded past years which we see now as vastly empty. As we exercise our senior privileges, such as leaving the auditorium first after assemblies, we are preparing to venture ahead to a new life and a new chance to live life to its fullest.

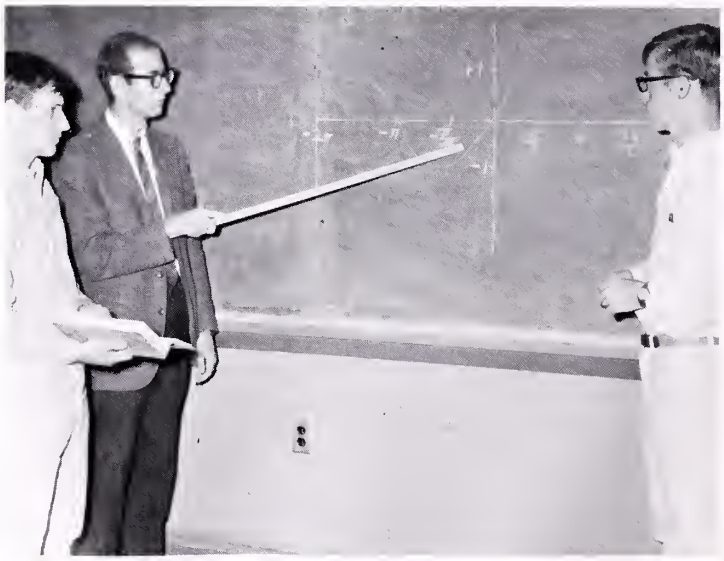


In Each Class

Mrs. Cepelka shows Angela Elsea, Brenda Ball, and Carolyn Householder the proper way to press a garment as it is being constructed.

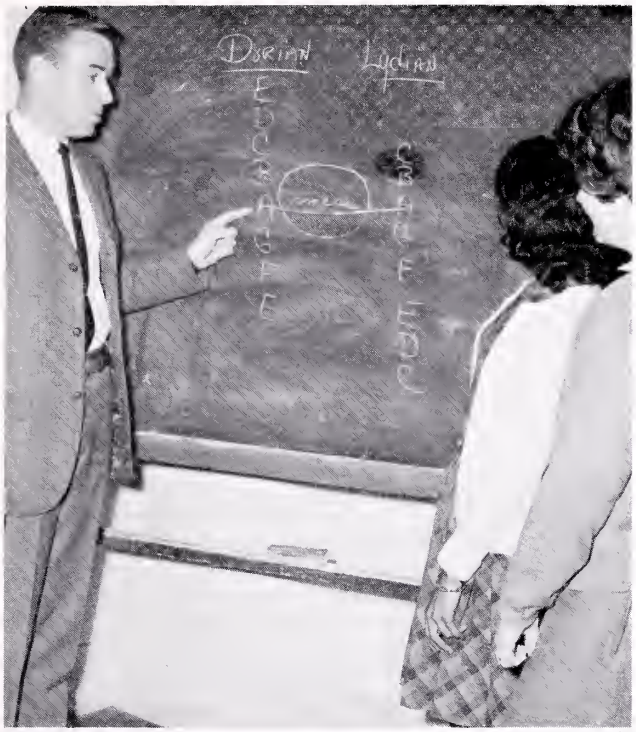
Mrs. Wisecarver instructs Bonnie Mallory in the use of the IBM Executary transcriber.

Mrs. Orrell observes Art II students, Linda Orndorff, Don Fewell, and Mary Ellen Ferrebee, as they work on portraits from childhood photographs.



Mr. Devers helps Helge Andersen and John Davis with a difficult trig problem.

We Grab for a Final Bit of Knowledge



Mr. Edwards explains Greek modes to Jackie Combs and Cindy Wood.

Mr. Myers discusses the possibility of forming a coalition with Steve Wisecarver and Shelby Thompson.

Mrs. Loope listens to Brad Boehmler while he practices for Forensics in English 12.

Gladys Grace, Tommie Childs, and Kathy Jackson prepare to put finishing touches on a street scene of Montmartre from suggestions from Mrs. Riley.

Outstanding Seniors

The 1967 Senior Class of Clarke County High School has chosen, on the basis of their contributions to the class, the following members as its outstanding seniors:

We Have Been Trusted by Our Class

Mrs. Alice Loope, sponsor, Susan Smalley, vice-president, and David Loope, president, wait anxiously as Mr. Edwards, sponsor, makes a telephone call concerning the candy sale. Mrs. Loope advises the president in the performance of his duties; and Mr. Edwards is in charge of the Project Committee, of which the vice-president is chairman.

John Davis, S. C. A. representative, Cindy Wood, secretary, Mr. Boyce, sponsor, Mary Galloway, treasurer, and Mrs. Wisecarver, sponsor, determine how much more money the seniors need to raise. Mr. Boyce sponsors the S. C. A. representative and the secretary and Mrs. Wisecarver assists the treasurer.

We Discover the Rough Road

One of the biggest decisions that a Junior has to make is the choice of a class ring. Shelby Thompson shows her ring to Emily Verloop and Beckey Jo Racer in an endeavor to help them decide.

Mary Jane Click and Betty Bushong plan the Junior Magazine Drive, which is their biggest money-making project of the year.

The Junior Class began its drive to raise money for the New York Trip and the Prom with a very successful Magazine Drive and a Junior Play. The Class of 1968 also, after much deliberation, selected their class rings, which will be presented to them at the beginning of their Senior year.

Frances Waters, Richard Ramsburg, Judy White, Paul McWhinney, Sally Potts, and Brenda Goldizen; chairman --as members of the Junior Play Committee--discover the difficulty of selecting the proper play for their class.

Organizations

Student Cooperative Association

S.C.A. OFFICERS AND SPONSOR--SEATED: Jimmy Buckner, vice-president. SEATED: Charlie Brown, president; Pam Jackson, Secretary; Rachel Pierce, reporter; Paul McWhinney, parliamentarian; and Helge Andersen, treasurer. STANDING: Alice Shugars, P.T.A. representative; and Mr. Boyce, sponsor.

The Student Cooperative Association is an organization made up of all the students at C.C.H.S. They have sponsored such projects as a Christmas basket and a school improvement campaign, and representatives have taken trips to the Shenandoah District S.C.A. meeting and the state S.C.A. meeting. The officers of the S.C.A. try "to promote the idea of self-government among the members, to create in the student body a deeper sense of responsibility . . . ."

ASSEMBLY COMMITTEE--The responsibilities of the Assembly Committee are preparing the stage and auditorium before each assembly. The members are Buckeye Potts, Joan Chapman, and Doris Duvall, chairman.

ATHLETIC COMMITTEE--Richard Howland, chairman, David Sowers, Billy Whiting, and Glen Unger prepare the athletic equipment for the oncoming winter. They also sell refreshments for home basketball games.

Strives for Understanding

BULLETIN BOARD COMMITTEE--The newly formed Bulletin Board Committee is in charge of keeping up to date the hall bulletin boards. The members are Alice Shugars, chairman; Jackie Livengood, George Carter, and Levenia Johnson.

POINT COMMITTEE--Gladys Grace, Shelby Thompson, chairman; and Emily Verloop use the school handbooks to set up the point system.

AMERICAN FIELD SERVICE COMMITTEE--Gladys Grace, the American Field Service Student, shows her native city of Punta Arenas to Mike Verloop, Tucker Childs, Rachel Pie[illegible] Susan Smalley, and Pat McClaughry.

S.C.A. Sponsors Homecoming

Gary Lichliter, Carolyn Cain, and Linda Orndorff decorate a convertible for the Homecoming parade. This committee also sets up the half-time activities for the homecoming game.

The School Improvement Committee strives to keep the school above par. Cindy Wood, chairman, points out to Tommy Edens and Susan Smalley the proper way to trim a bush.

Betty Bushong proudly displays her S.C.A. letter, which she earned as a sophomore, to Charlie Brown and Mr. Boyce.

Band Gets New Director

Mr. James Colfelt, the director, points out to Jo Ann Carroll the formation lines for the band.

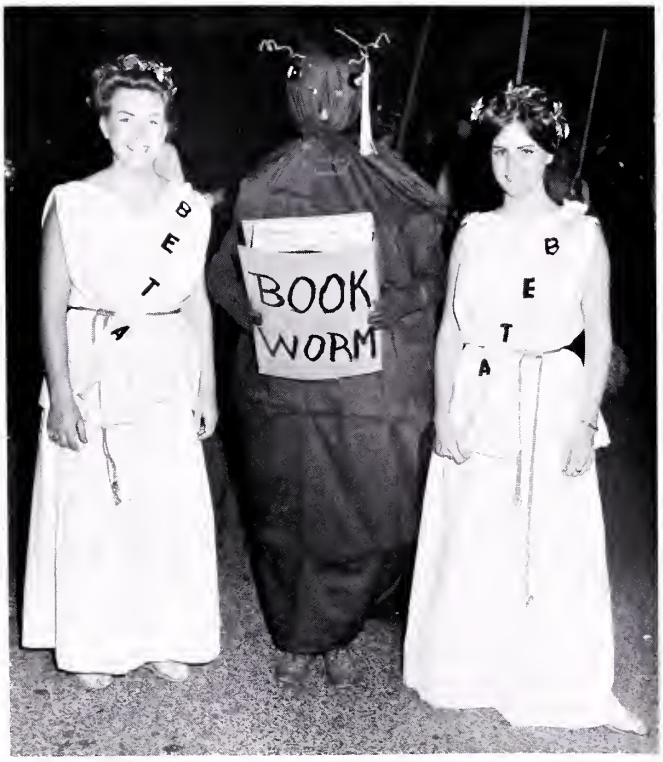
This year Mr. James Colfelt became the new band director. Under his guidance the band not only entertained at halftime at football games, but also assisted the cheerleaders in their chants. They also participated in several Christmas parades and the Apple Blossom Festival parade.

Janice Willingham, [illegible]ron Grey, and Diane Carpenter practice for tryouts [illegible]ich were held in the fall.

Beta Club Receives Trophy

"To promote the ideals of honesty, service, and leadership among the high school students of America" is part of the purpose of the National Beta Club. The Beta Club at C.C.H.S. has followed this purpose by having a tapping ceremony, initiation, induction of new members, and a first place entry in the Homecoming Parade. To be a member of this honor club, one must have an overall average of 91 and be a student of good standing.

The officers of the Beta Club prepare for the tapping ceremony. They are Mary Galloway, reporter; Jackie Livengood, treasurer; Susan Smalley, secretary; Mrs. Loope, sponsor; Cindy Wood, president; and Lynda White, vice-president.



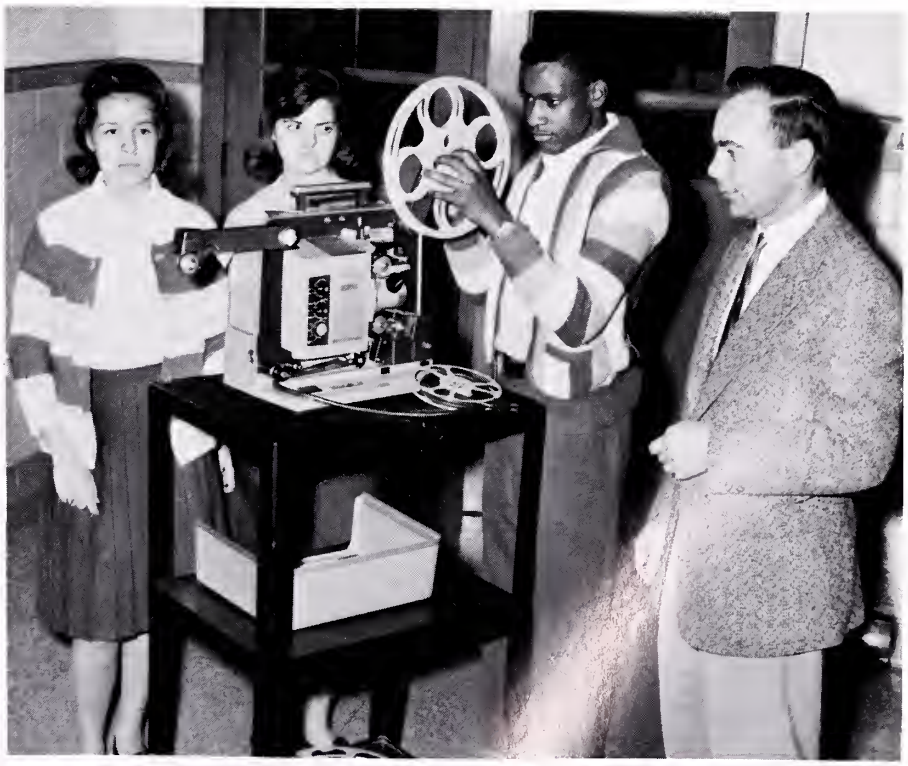
The Beta Club's entry won first place in the Homecoming Parade. The participants were Joan Chapman and Lynda White, Greecian goddesses, and Susan Smalley, "Book Worm."

Mrs. Loope and President Cindy Wood discuss the trophy presented to the Beta Club for their entry in the Homecoming Parade.

Bible Club Has New Sponsor

Becky Hogan reads a passage from the Bible to members Joe Greathouse, Joe Wilson, Cathy Malone, Mary Ellen. Ferrebee, Patsy McDonald, Rebecca Malone, and Debbie Hogan.

With "fellowship of Christian young people" as their motto, the Bible Club tries to emphasize the importance of Christianity in our school life.



Becky Hogan, president; Mary Ellen Ferrebee, secretary-treasurer; Joe Wilson, vice-president; and Mr. Neil Wood, sponsor, prepare to give the movie "Goal To Go" to the student body.

DECA's Car Smash a Success

Linda Pierce, Hazel Pearson, and Cindy Sherman plan a bulletin board centered around the graduating D. E. C. A. members.

The Distributive Education Clubs of America officers are, first row, Janice Willingham, vice-president; Cindy Sherman, program chairman; Jill Regan, secretary; and Faye Pyne, treasurer. Second row, Ronald Jenkins, reporter; Randy Morrow, parliamentarian; Ralph Renner, president; and Mr. Stiles, sponsor.

The D. E. C. A. Club this year has kept up to date a display in the hall to remind the students of the value of distributive education. It's main money-making project, a car smash, was a smash hit with the students.

Dramatics Club Reorganizes

The Dramatics Club officers look over materials about the one-act play seminar. They are Sam Headley, president; Linda Orndorff, vice-president; Mrs. Bushong, sponsor; Amos Ewing, treasurer; Ricky Sponseller, reporter; and Tucker Childs, secretary.

Karen Seibel, Rebecca Luffman, and Mary Galloway read plays for the one-act play contest.

The Dramatics Club encouraged interest in the theater and in dramatics by reorganizing into a more concentrated group of thespians. Members presented several skits for analysis by the club and prepared a play for the One-Act Play Festival.

Eyrie Invokes Ingenuity and Curiosity

This year THE EYRIE presented more student opinions of the school through a new column called "Mar and Su in Their Own Right." While the staff worked hard to produce the newspaper, they became more familiar with the journalism and the mechanics of a newspaper.

Mary Galloway and Susan Smalley enthusiastically tell Mr. Barbour and other columnists, Buckeye Potts, Carolyn Cain, Pam Livengood, and Debbie Ballard their new ideas on getting student opinion.

Mike Verloop points out the rudiments of a good newspaper story to Richard Ramsburg, Bonnie Garver, Beth Luffman, Sandra Linck, and Rosalie Emerick.

French Club Plans Trip to Washington

The French Club chose to tour Washington as its major project this year. While in Washington, they toured the Art Gallery, had dinner in a French restaurant, and visited some French shops in the metropolitan area.

The French Club officers--Levenia Johnson, president; Susan Smalley, treasurer; Cindy Wood, secretary; Emily Verloop, vice-president; and Becky Jo Racer, reporter--scan the latest issues of Paris "Match" magazine.

The members of the D.C. trip committee search the Washington papers for French cuisines in the city. They are Sandra Linck, Linda Day, Carol Carr, Lynda White, Alice Shugars, chairman; and Nancy Orrell.

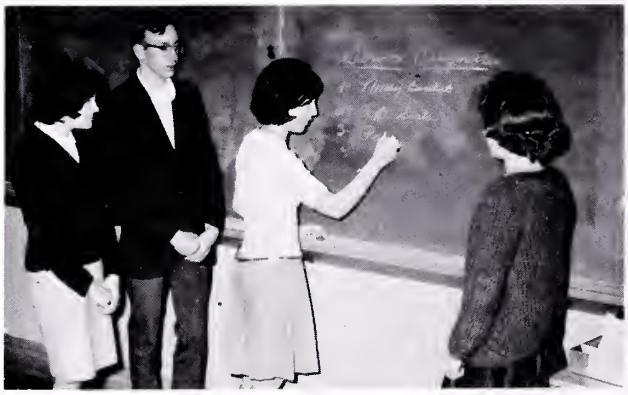
Tucker Childs, chairman, points out a place of interest in Paris to members of the project committee, Mary Ellen Ferrebee, Janes Henderson, and sponsor, Mrs. Riley.

FBLA Forms a Junior Club

Mary Jane Click, vice-president, practices a speech in the hope that she will enter the public speaking contest regional meeting. Those listening are Linda McDonald, president; Joan Chapman, treasurer; Nancy Chapman, historian; Jim Coumes, reporter; Sylvia Taylor, secretary; and Mrs. Ellis, sponsor.

One of the major projects of the F.B.L.A. this year was to locate the oldest place of business in Clarke County. Another undertaking was to organize a Junior F.B.L.A. to orientate the 9th grade business students about the workings of the F.B.L.A. Many of their projects were shared by both groups.

Louise Shull and Frances Waters work on a F.B.L.A. project, typing name labels for the T.B. seals, which were distributed in the community.



LaVonne Hummer, chairman, shows projects to be undertaken by the Service Committee to Sandy Lloyd, Sonny Larrick, and Hazel Bolden.

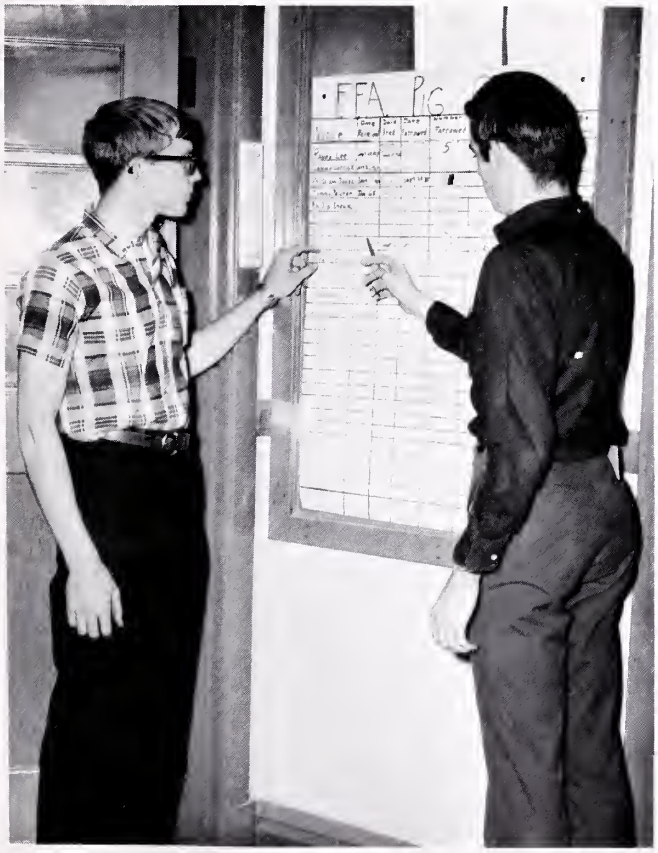
The officers of the newly formed F.B.L.A. are Becky Campbell, vice-president; Sharon Lee, president; Scott Lewis, reporter; Mrs. Turner, sponsor; Louise Hummer, treasurer; and Bonnie Houdershell, secretary.

Elizabeth Sechrist, Mary Hummer, Brenda Lloyd, and Mary Jane Click, chairman; set out to locate the oldest place of business in Clarke County.

FFA Plans Farm Safety Campaign

The officers of the F.F.A. are Larry Royston, vice-president; Jack Gray, reporter; Tommy Cather, president; David Sowers, secretary; Scott McIntire, sentinel; and Mr. Huffman, advisor.

With many projects and activities in which to participate, the members of the Future Farmers of America have been quite busy this year. Not only did they promote their annual Farm Safety Campaign but also entered many contests, winning second place in a local crop judging contest.



Kenneth Campbell and Henry Kent check the F.F.A. pig chart.

Members of the F.F.A. work on their farm safety campaign.

FHA Stuffs Ditty Bags

THE F. H. A. OFFICERS--SEATED: Mrs. Cepelka, sponsor; Carla Carlisle, historian; Joette Elsea, reporter; and Mrs. Levi, sponsor. STANDING: Ann Dodson, song leader; Pamela Jackson, secretary; Dottie Hummer, vice-president; Karen Seibel, president; and Judy Fleming, treasurer.

Patsy Simpson, Jo Ann Wisecarver, and June Larrick set up a display for the F. H. A. in the showcase.

The members of the Future Homemakers of America have carried out this year several service projects. They have made posters and displays to promote manners and morals around school. At Christmas time they sponsored baskets for needy families and sent ditty bags, filled with small useable items, to servicemen in Viet Nam.

Carolyn Householder, Barbara Longerbeam, Christy Wood, and Trudy Carroll stuff ditty bags to send to the G.I.'s in Viet Nam.

GAA Plans Intramurals

The Girls' Athletic Association promoted school spirit and sportsmanship among girls by sponsoring intramural sports and participating in a local play day.

Mrs. Cugler, sponsor, explains to the G.A.A. officers the techniques of playing ping pong. They are Nancy Chapman, reporter; Debbie Fuller, treasurer; Barbara Longerbeam, secretary; Mrs. Cugler, Rachel Pierce, vice-president; and Joan Chapman, president.

Sallie Potts and Karen Seibel demonstrate jumping doubles on the trampoline as members of the G.A.A. look on.

The Hi-Y works together with the Tri-Hi-Y to promote Christian education in the school. Its members have given devotions over the loudspeaker before school and have participated in the Christmas program given for the student body.

The Hi-Y officers discuss plans for the Christmas program which was given to the student body. They are Richard Ramsburg, treasurer; Mr. Myers, sponsor; Billy Whiting, vice-president; Richard Howland, reporter; Bob Travers, president; Michael Pope, secretary; and Tommy Digges, chaplain.

Hi-Y Shares Devotions

The chairmen of the Latin Club committees gather to plan programs and projects for the coming year. They are Rosalie Emerick, Scrapbook Committee; Fred Alger, Assembly Committee; Tommy Digges, Social Committee; and Jimmy Chafin, Constitution Committee.

Mrs. Morrison helps Rachel Pierce and Rosalie Emerick don their togas for the initiation ceremony.

Latin Club Greets New Members

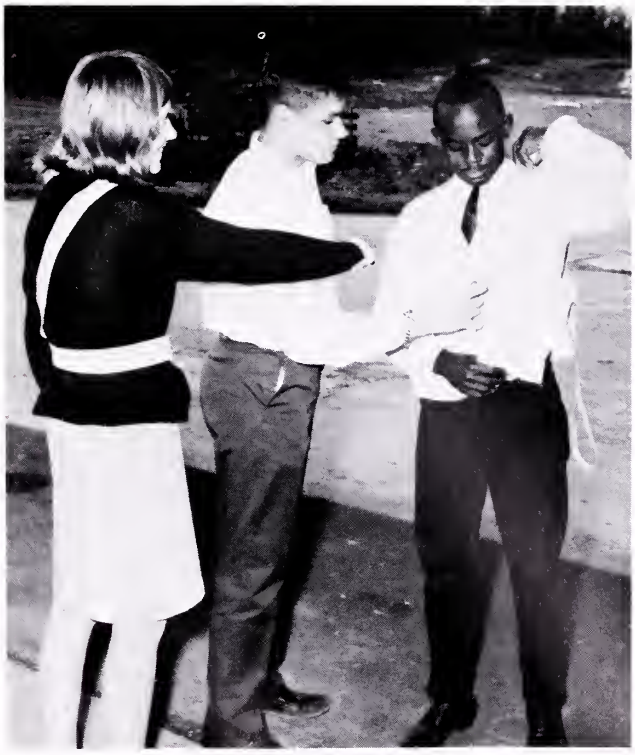
The Latin Club, under the direction of Mrs. Morrison, is primarily composed of new members this year, each having undergone the traditional initiation ceremonies. Among the club's activities have been participation in the Homecoming parade and the Latin Tournament in April.

The Latin Club officers and sponsor scan newspapers for articles pertaining to Latin and Rome. They are Mrs. Morrison, sponsor; Mike Pope, president; Rachel Pierce, vice-president; David Emerick, reporter; Jimmy Chafin, treasurer; and Pam Livengood, secretary.

Stop for Safety's Sake

The Safety Patrol has this year recruited new members to help the school bus drivers maintain good safety standards. Under the supervision of Mr. Jackson, the members have worked to improve the safety practices of the students.

Mary Emerson, secretary, demonstrates the proper method of using the flag to stop traffic while Nynoka Funk, reporter; Doreen Smith, captain; David Jones, lieutenant; and Mr. Jackson, sponsor; look on.



Nynoka Funk and Alvin Feltner show David Jones the correct way to wear his Safety Patrol belt.

Mike Graves demonstrates one of his jobs as a patrolman, as he sees that the students get on the bus safely.

The Talon Presents Story of the Year

Jackie Livengood, editor-in-chief; Levenia Johnson, assistant editor; Mrs. Wisecarver, sponsor; and Mary Galloway, assistant editor.

To present a true picture of school life at C. C. H. S. the members of THE TALON staff have made many changes in the yearbook. They have been busy this year taking pictures, planning layouts, drawing mats, and meeting deadlines. From finance to football, their aim has been to present the "Story of the Year."

Alice Shugars, underclassmen editor; Lynda White, sports editor; Joan Chapman, faculty editor; Rosalie Emerick, school life editor; and Susan Smalley, organizations editor.

Billy Whiting, assistant sports editor; Tucker Childs, circulation manager; Carol Carr, assistant organizations editor; and Betty Bushong, assistant school life editor.

Linda McDonald, senior editor; and Cindy Wood, typist.

Tri-Hi-Y Sells Mums

The Tri-Hi-Y has become very active this year with many projects to their credit. Some of these include--morning devotions, a Christmas program, selling mums, Thought for the Week, and delegates to the District Conference and Model General Assembly at Richmond.

Rachel Pierce and Carla Carlisle give devotions to the student body.

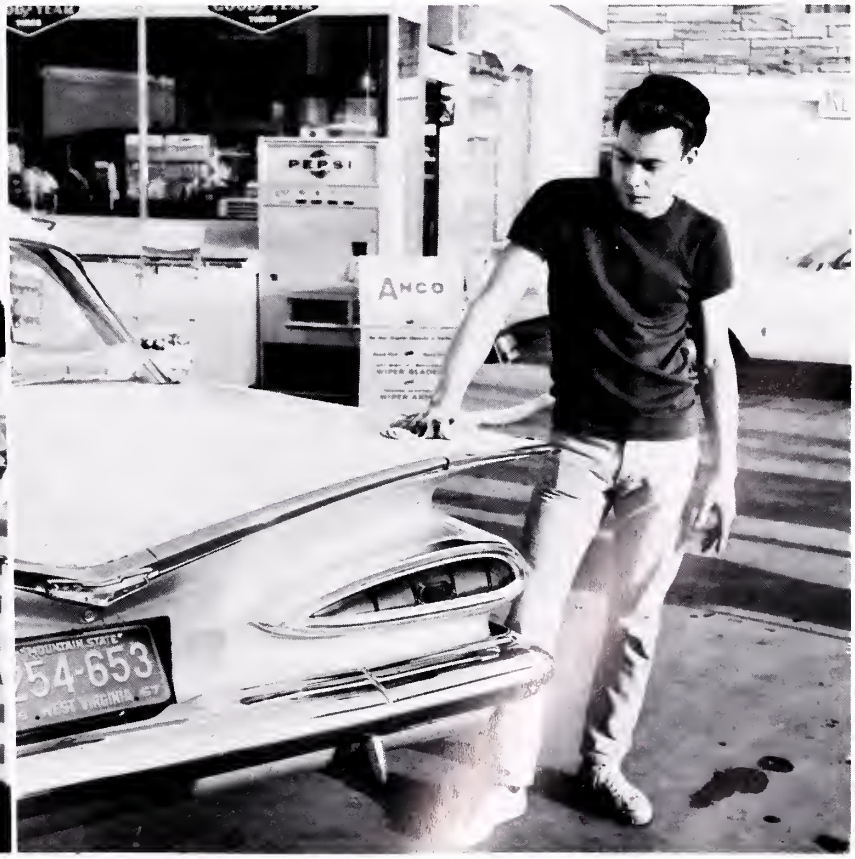
The Tri-Hi-Y and Hi-Y visit the Presbyterian Church as a group one Sunday.

V.I.C.A. Has On-the-Job Workers

The members of the Vocational Industrial Clubs of America, who are being trained for industrial work, visited the Fisherville Technical School in January. Their purpose in visiting the school was to observe how they might further their training after high school.

The V. I. C. A. officers hang an I. C. T. banner. They are Wes Hanlin, vice-president; Jerry Chilcott, reporter; Danny Luttrell, secretary-treasurer; and George Kirby, president.

Mr. Stiles, sponsor, and Gary Orndorff discuss future plans for the V. I. C. A. Club.



A V. I. C. A. member, Fred Raburn, works after school on his job at Kirk's Sinclair Servicenter.

Like the fans at the football game, we have proven our sports life to be complete through actions and spirit. It is not just competition that we are interested in but also loyalty to school and fair play, clear understanding of mind, and vitality of body.
